Companions of the Prophet ﷺ

Book 4 | Ages 10-11

Sacrifice, eagerness to learn, devotion, courage, and care

The Sahabah: Loving and Learning from the Prophet ﷺ

- The Sahabah were the men and women who met the Prophet ﷺ, believed in him, and died as Muslims.
- They supported Islam through hardship and sacrifice. The Prophet ﷺ taught Muslims not to abuse his Companions.
- Abu Hurayrah (RA) was eager to learn. He stayed close to the Prophet ﷺ and narrated the greatest number of hadith.
- 'Abdullah ibn Mas'ud (RA) accepted Islam when young, devoted himself to serving the Prophet ﷺ, and became highly knowledgeable about the Qur'an and Sunnah.
- These Companions teach us to value knowledge, stay close to good teachers, and serve Islam sincerely.

Courage, Service, and Care

- 'Abdullah ibn Mas'ud (RA) cared for the Prophet's needs, traveled with him, and remained close to him during journeys and battles.
- Nusaybah bint Ka'b (RA) was a brave female Companion who took part in important events during the Prophet's life.
- At the Battle of Uhud, Nusaybah (RA) helped the wounded and then courageously defended the Prophet ﷺ when danger increased.
- The Prophet ﷺ cared deeply for children, showed them affection, and made them feel valued and welcome.
- From the Sahabah we learn sacrifice, courage, service, love for the Prophet ﷺ, seeking knowledge, and caring for others.
